

CHRISTINE PLATT

LITERACY ADVOCATE | AUTHOR | HISTORIAN

EMAIL

christineaplatt@outlook.com

WEB

christineaplatt.com

Christine Platt is a literacy advocate and passionate activist for social justice and policy reform. She holds a B.A. in Africana Studies from the University of South Florida, M.A. in African and African American Studies from The Ohio State University, and J.D. from Stetson University College of Law. A believer in the power of storytelling as a tool for social change, Christine's literature centers on teaching race, equity, diversity, and inclusion to people of all ages.

STUDENT ENGAGEMENT

SCHOOL/LIBRARY VISITS

DEI WORKSHOPS

PUBLIC SPEAKING

CURRICULUM/INSTRUCTION

BOOKSTORE EVENTS

As a Literacy Advocate, I enjoy visiting schools, libraries and bookstores to help young people develop a love for reading and engage audiences in celebrating representation in literature. Recent clients and engagements include District of Columbia Public Schools, Montgomery County Public Schools, Atlanta Public Schools, Charlottesville City Public Schools, St. Louis Public Schools and Library, East City Bookshop, Mahogany Books, The Wing, and 'No Place for Hate' designated schools. I also partner with leading literacy and social justice organizations such as Teaching for Change, Turning the Page, An Open Book Foundation, First Book and Writers & Artists Across the Country. Each visit and workshop is customized to the needs of the audience.

LET'S WORK TOGETHER!